The six members of the Ecumenical Jury have arrived in Cannes! The first day was marked by an inaugural meeting, during which the members got to know each other. Each member shared a few words about his or her background. It was also an opportunity to get to know the organizing team and the support staff who will be present throughout the Festival.

The official photo session, followed by a convivial lunch, enabled everyone to get to know each other better in a relaxed atmosphere.

The afternoon continued with a tour of the Palais des Festivals and the main screening rooms, an opportunity to familiarize ourselves with the emblematic locations where the films in the official selection will be screened.

First interview with RCF with Jury President Lukas Jirsa and Anne-Cécile Antoni.

In the evening, the entire Jury attended the opening ceremony presided over by actress Juliette Binoche, followed by the screening of the opening film Partir un jour by Amélie Bonnin.

The next few days will be very busy, with the Jury having to attend the entire Official Competition!
