LMU LUDWIG-MAXIMILIANS-UNIVERSITÄT MÜNCHEN

PROFESSUR FÜR PHILOSOPHIE DER FRÜHEN NEUZEIT
FAKULTÄT FÜR PHILOSOPHIE, WISSENSCHAFTSTHEORIE UND RELIGIONSWISSENSCHAFT

1st Munich Workshop in Early Modern Philosophy

November 19

9:45-10:00	Welcome
10:00-11:00	Vivien Kurpiela (University of Bonn): Spinoza's Modal Integration Challenge
11:00-12:00	David Wörner (University of Stuttgart): Nominal Essence and the Question of Realism
12:00-13:30	Lunch Break
13:30-14:30	Renata Ramos (Fluminense Federal University): Apperception or Reflection? Consciousness and the Monadic Hierarchy in Leibniz
14:30-15:30	Daniel Bella (University of Hamburg): Common Properties and Dispositions in Spinoza's Metaphysics
15:30-16:00	Coffee Break
16:00-17:30	Robert Pasnau (University of Colorado Boulder): Could Early Modern Philosophy Have Begun with Nicholas of Autrecourt, circa 1330?

November 20

9:00-10:00	Alexandra Abranches (University of Minho – Braga): Astell and Immanent Critique
10:00-11:00	Matthew Leisinger (York University): Cudworth on Indifference
11:00-11:30	Coffee Break
11:30-12:30	Louis Pijaudier-Cabot (University of Milan): Presence and Eucharist in Leibniz
12:30-14:00	Lunch Break
14:00-15:00	Guido Seywald (University of Vienna): George Berkeley's Master Argument and its Relation to his Critique of Abstract Ideas
15:00-16:00	Pia Schneider (UC Berkeley): Grasping Incongruence: Kant's Argument in §13 of the Prolegomena
16:00-16:30	Coffee Break
16:30-18:00	Ursula Renz (University of Graz): Perspective-Taking as a Norm of Doxastic Rationality: What's the Point of Kant's Second Maxim?

When: November 19–20, 2026

Where: LMU Munich, Ludwigstr. 28, room 115 (Freskensaal)

Organization: Sebastian Bender