

Empirical Issues in Trade

Martina Magli, PhD

LS (Seminar)

Wintersemester/winter semester

The course aims to introduce graduate students to the empirical literature of international economics and to help them to develop the necessary tools to conduct independent research in the field. The course is structured as follows.

The first lecture introduces the topics covered in the seminar and provides an overview of the existing literature. In the following weeks, students carry independent work, discussing and presenting a paper published in a leading journal.

The course will be in parallel with the M6 Course "Advanced international Economics"
